

The John A. Hartford Center of Gerontological Nursing Excellence
Trailblazing Topics in Gerontology Series

Unpacking Place in Aging: Exploring intersections of space, time, and aging

Jarmin Christine Yeh, MSSW, MPH
Doctoral student
Department of Social and Behavioral Sciences

Thursday, October 24, 2013

12:00 – 1:00 pm

Room N-521

Refreshments will be served

RSVP appreciated - email: Hartford.CGNE@nursing.ucsf.edu

Learning Objectives:

At the completion of this presentation, learners will be able to:

1. Provide a brief overview of place-based efforts, such as “aging-in-place” and “age-friendly cities,” in the lexicon of gerontology.
2. Analyze how old age hood is constructed and manifested in the materiality of the built environment.
3. Identify tensions between change and continuity in gerontological knowledge and the potential implications for practice.

The Trailblazing Topics in Gerontology, in part, provides opportunities for Nursing doctoral and masters students to present and receive feedback on their teaching. Learners will be asked to provide evaluative feedback to student presenters as a way for him or her to learn and grow as a leader in Gerontology and Geriatrics.